Visual Dictionary

Sometimes it's much easier to understand the meaning of a word if you are shown a picture of it. This supplement helps you by presenting some vocabulary in a visual format. The first section contains images which show 'types of' a particular area of vocabulary, for example 'boats' or 'devices'. The images in the second section show 'parts of' something, for example, 'parts of a bicycle' or 'parts of the skeleton'. You may find it helpful to study the colourful images in the supplement – learning vocabulary sets through images can be particularly helpful for memorizing words.

'TYPES OF'

This section shows you groups of related vocabulary items. Studying the images together is helpful in understanding the difference between words which are used for items belonging to a particular set.

GRAMMAR FINDER

Wh-words

Wh-words are a set of adverbs, pronouns, and determiners that all, with the exception of how, begin with wh. They are:

- ▶ the adverbs how, when, where, and why
- ▶ the pronouns who, whom, what, which, and whose
- ▶ the determiners what, which, and whose

Wh-words are used in questions.

Why are you smiling?

→ See Questions

They are also used in reported questions.

He asked me where I was going.

→ See Reporting

With the exception of 'how' and 'what', wh-words can be used to begin relative clauses.

...nurses who have trained for two years.

That is also used to begin relative clauses, although it is not used for questions and reported questions.

→ See Relative clauses, Wh-clauses for information on the use of wh-words to begin clauses used as subjects and prepositional objects

You will find information on how to use each wh-word in the Usage entry for that word.

what

1 asking for information

You use what when you are asking for information about something. You can use what as a pronoun or a determiner.

When you use what as a pronoun, it can be the subject, object, or complement of a verb. It can also be the object of a preposition.

What happened to the crew?

What is your name?

When what is the object of a verb, it is followed by an auxiliary verb, the subject, and then the main verb. When what is the object of a preposition, the preposition usually goes at the end of the question.

What did she say then?

What did he die of?

2 used as a determiner

When you use what as a determiner, it usually forms part of the object of a verb.

What books can I read on the subject?

What car do you drive?

The young people below are all looking for part-time jobs. Below there are advertisements for six part-time jobs. Decide which job each person would be the most suitable for.

-  Tilda is quite serious and finds it hard to talk to people. She prefers to play games on her computer, make videos and read books. When she grows up she wants to make video games. She'd like to get a job so that she can afford more video games and computer software. She's an only child, so she hasn't got any brothers or sisters and isn't used to being with younger children. She thinks it would be good to get a job where she has to talk to some people so that she can become more confident, but she doesn't want to have to talk to many people.
-  Simon hates sitting down and being quiet. He loves sports and the countryside. He often goes hiking with his parents at the weekend. He only wants a job that is outside. His grandparents give him lots of money every month, so he doesn't need a wage.
-  Grace is 14 years old. She'd like to get a job with her best friend Lisa. They don't mind what job they do, but they don't want to work at the weekends. They'd like to earn some money so that they can go shopping.
-  Job is 13 years old. He'll be 14 in three months' time. He's got two younger brothers, so he's very good with younger children. He's very patient, kind and fun. He loves sports and art. He would like to have a part-time job and earn some money, but he does a lot of clubs after school, so he can only work at the weekends.

Includes audio and video available to download online, illustrating physical articulation and pronunciation.

UNIT 19

NURSE /ɜː/

Make the sound
Vowel grid reference: 6
This vowel is a longer version of the schwa (see page 139) with a slightly lower tongue position.

1 Part your lips and teeth, just a little.
2 Relax your tongue and leave the tip to rest naturally, just behind your bottom front teeth.
3 Don't allow the tongue to move or the lips to make a shape – however tempting! Lips, tongue and jaw are all neutral and relaxed.

When do I use this sound?
This sound is always spelled with a silent r. You only need to pronounce the vowel sound.

Spelling	Examples
ur	urgent, fur, curse
er	eternity, nervous, commercial
ir	bird, girl, virtue
ear	early, learn, heard
or	work, word, worst
our	journey, courteous, journalist

! You may see this sound transcribed using the symbol /ɜː/ in some dictionaries.

Now try it!
Say each of the words and sentences in sections A, B, and C aloud. Then compare your pronunciation with the recordings.

A

1 world	2 word	3 worthy	4 certain
5 serve	6 mercy	7 skirt	8 first
9 stir	10 earth	11 heard	12 search
13 earnings	14 turn	15 burning	16 journal

B

- 1 She urged him to curse less as she yearned for a perfect and vigorous partner.
- 2 The circus clowns wore purple shirts and juggled thirty burning balls, making the front row of the audience very nervous.
- 3 She turned up early for her first day of work to be certain of making the perfect first impression.
- 4 My thirteenth birthday is on the thirty-first, so feel free to spurge with your gift purchases.
- 5 We need some further emergency rehearsals before the first performance.
- 6 Stop yearning around nervously and immerse yourself in the experience.
- 7 She left her purse at church and hoped that a virtuous person would find it first.
- 8 Did he hurt himself when he burst through the doors of the burning building?
- 9 I've heard that the girl would prefer to run away to the circus than marry that beak.
- 10 We need to conserve planet Earth and not damage it any further.

Birds
Have you ever heard the saying, 'the early bird catches the worm'? It means that whoever gets to an opportunity first is most likely to do well. Birds do eat worms, and they certainly do wake up early in the morning and start chirping and singing! Certain birds make massive journeys every year, migrating from cold to warm climates. This seems like very hard work; some fly almost half-way around the earth. Birdwatchers like to observe the times of these birds' journeys, and search for them when they arrive at their destination. Of course not all birds travel like this. Some birds, like turkeys, can't even fly at all.

Common mistakes
X In SSBK this long sound is always spelled with a silent r, and many learners will try to pronounce the r in some way.
✓ Make sure you are not pronouncing the r in these words. (see pages 69–71) on 'The spoken and the silent r'. Keep the vowel open, and long. Your tongue should stay flat in your mouth with the tip behind your lower teeth.
Look at this sentence:
She was so nervous about her first day of work at the new law firm that she woke up earlier than her alarm.
