LIBROS DE RECURSOS
FOTOCOPIABLES

ENSEÑANZA DE IDIOMAS MODERNOS

Tenemos el placer de presentar nuestra completa gama de libros de recursos fotocopiables. Contamos ya con 50 años de experiencia en la creación de materiales complementarios para el profesorado de primaria y secundaria de todo el mundo. Nos enorgullece editar materiales previamente probados y comprobados, fáciles de utilizar, sin apenas requerir una preparación previa. Los títulos de la serie Timesaver proporcionan centenares de fichas listas para ser utilizadas, para todos los niveles y edades, basadas en el Marco Común Europeo de Referencia (CEF). Son ideales para complementar el libro de texto en la clase, actividades individualizadas, o como auto-estudio en casa. Así mismo, tienen a su disposición cantidad de material que pueden descargar desde nuestra página web, de forma totalmente gratuita en: www.englishtimesavers.com.

TIMESAVER BRITISH HISTORY HIGHLIGHTS Kings and queens

Crazy* kings

1 King Henry VIII had six wives. Do you know their names? Read the text to find out.

Henry VIII (1491-1547, King from 1509)

Henry and his six wives

When Henry VIII became king he was 18. He danced and sang well. Everyone loved him. But he needed a son. His first wife - Catherine of Aragon - was Spanish. Catherine and Henry had a daughter, Mary. Henry wasn't happy. He wanted a divorce*. The Church* in Rome said 'no'. So Henry started the Church of England. Then he and Catherine divorced.

Henry then married Anne Boleyn. She had a daughter, Elizabeth. But Anne was in love with her brother, and Henry heard about it. He sent her to the 'Tower of London'. There they cut off her head, or 'beheaded' her. Next Henry married Jane Seymour. She had a son, Edward, but then she died.

After that Henry married a German princess, Anne of Cleves. She was ugly. 'She looks like a horse', Henry said. They soon divorced. Then Henry married Catherine Howard. She was 20 and beautiful, and Henry was 49. Catherine lost her head when Henry heard about her boyfriend. Henry's last wife was Katherine Parr. She was nice to Henry - and she survived! Him! Henry's son Edward was the next king.

2 What happened to Henry's wives? Write these words next to the names. They make a rhyme that English children learn at school.

1 Catherine of Aragon	_____
2 Anne Boleyn	_____
3 Jane Seymour	_____

112 Shakespeare history incidents? Kings and queens

- 3 George III was a crazy king. What do you think he did? a He talked to trees.
Read the text and find out. b He lost America.
c He gave Buckingham Palace* to his wife.
d He hated his son.

George III (1738-1820, King from 1760)

George III had 15 children. He loved his wife, Charlotte. (He gave Buckingham Palace to her!) He studied the stars and he loved reading. He liked country life too. He knew all about animals, fruit and vegetables. The British liked him and called him 'The Farmer King'. But Britain lost America under George III!

In later life George III went crazy. He talked to trees and shouted 'peacock' all the time. He couldn't rule the country. His oldest son - George, Prince of Wales - ruled it for him. George III hated the Prince. When George III died, the Prince became King George IV.

You're a fat peacock, my son!
fat? Me? Father, you're crazy!

- 4 These sentences compare Henry VIII and George III. Read both texts again and tick the correct column (H for Henry or G for George).
