EQUALITY PROJECT

A new scenario for inclusion, plurality and gender equality

The ELi Publishing Group is committed to promoting within our editorial publications an array of topics that are constantly updated and closely linked to today's increasingly complex world. Our educational products reflect the continuous social and cultural changes and we are committed to placing even more attention on the messages contained within our publications.

We aim to inspire and expand the scenarios of students, academic faculties and families by providing examples adhering to the values of social justice, gender equality and the appreciation of diversity and differences, thus favouring a culture of inclusion.

It is a long and constantly evolving project, and for this reason, we are asking all teachers and professionals in the educational community to cooperate and provide suggestions, indications and opinions in order to make our texts more and more in line with the reality of the current situation.

CONTENTS

Carefully created contents in order to facilitate knowledge and awareness of a balanced scenario from a social and cultural point of view

#equality project

We have established a relationship and opened a round table with the University of Macerata (Italy) to allow us to discuss our future publishing projects and the issue of gender equality in textbooks, with the aim of identifying and eliminating stereotypes in school textbooks.

The working group is made up of specialised personnel within the publishing house and experts from the University. They prepare valid guidelines for all types of school publications, with the aim of educating for equality right from the first years of schooling.

ICONOGRAPHY

Carefully considered iconographic analysis to raise awareness of a culture of equality through visual language

LANGUAGE

Use of a textual language that is suitable, inclusive and precise so as to recognise both genders beyond any stereotype

Video & Life Skills 1

Nadiya's Family

1 Watch the video without sound. Where is Nadiya from and where is her family from?

Narrator Nadiya is a famous cook. She won The Great British Bake Off, a TV competition. She's British and lives in the UK with her husband and her children. Her parents are from Bangladesh, but she grew up in the UK, so she doesn't know Bangladeshi well.

Nadiya I think I feel very British and sometimes I feel like I don't know the Bangladeshi side of me that much. But her Bangladeshi side is an important part of her family life as well as her work as a chef.

Narrator Nadiya has three sisters and two brothers. They all live nearby. They meet for important family celebrations. Nadiya is the chef in the family, but for family meals, everyone cooks. That is a custom and potato curry that my big sister made.

Narrator This celebration is for Nadiya, who is going to Bangladesh. She wants to visit her family there, and learn more about the culture and the food. Her parents live in Bangladesh now. In a small village near Sylhet, at the airport, her dad picks her up. Together, they drive to the family village. Her mum is there to meet her. So are her and uncles and aunts. And her cousins. And their children. They know she is a famous chef in the UK now, and are very happy for her.

Nadiya I did not think I was gonna cry. I thought I didn't miss them, it turns out I do.

Narrator Next, she goes to see her grandmother. She is very important to Nadiya. Nadiya stays in the village with her family for one week. She cooks with them, and learns from them, and is sad when it's time to say goodbye. She loves her family, but continues her travels in Bangladesh. She will meet new people, try new things and learn all about her family's country.

It's women's work!

1 At 23 American gymnast Simone Biles can't wear all her medals because she has 30 of them! She learns new gymnastic movements in just three days. There is even one called the Biles! After every competition she can eat her favorite food, pizza. She can't always go out with friends because of training. But she can laugh and have fun with the other gymnasts.

2 Federica Pellegrini is a swimming champion from Italy. She can swim very fast: 400m in under 4 minutes, and 200m in under 2 minutes! But at 23 she can't win more competitions, or can she? Federica is crazy about tattoos. You can see them on her body when she swims. She loves fashion and music too. You can buy her things on eBay. She often sells them there for charity.

3 28-year-old Liu Shiwen from China can play table tennis very well. She moves very quickly and can hit the ball very hard. She is a World Cup champion, a World champion, an ITTF World Tour champion and an Asian Cup champion. Champions can't often relax, but they can find time to try new clothes or make-up – two of her favorite hobbies!

4 Who can save a match, minutes before the end of her international soccer debut? Dalila Ippolito can! At 18 she can also say she is the first Argentinian woman to play in Italy, after signing with Juventus in 2020. To stop feeling homesick, she drinks maté, a traditional drink, listens to Latin American Reggaeton music, or she can pretend to be Lionel Messi on her PlayStation!

A CHANGE OF SCENERY

If you've ever lived in a city, you'll know that it has lots to offer. But is city life a better place than the countryside for young people? Two teenagers, Mina and Sophie, decided to find out.

(1) _____ This meant that for two weeks, Mina left behind her home to live with Sophie's family in a small Scottish village. At the same time, Sophie packed her suitcase to experience two weeks of Mina's city life in Manchester, England. "I was really nervous at first," said Mina. "Life is exciting in Manchester - I'm never bored. I'm a big football fan and like to watch my team play at their stadium. I often go to the cinema with friends, too, and then maybe get a pizza after!"

(2) _____ Mina found village life difficult to adapt to at first. "There are hardly any shops! You have to travel everywhere - even just to buy some milk!" (3) _____ "I actually really liked riding around in the fresh, clean air. There's much less air pollution! Life is just much slower in the countryside, you have time to think and relax." Sophie says she was most interested in going to the large shopping centres and travelling around by train. At first, she enjoyed discovering Manchester's parks, museums and galleries.

(4) _____ "Compared to my small village, Manchester seems so big and noisy. City life is quite stressful - everything seems busy all the time." (5) _____ "I recognise almost everyone who lives in the village!" So, now both girls are back home, what have they learned? Mina says, "The most important thing is to try and appreciate the best bits of wherever you live."

A However, she soon started to miss the peace and quiet of home.

B They agreed to spend some time together to get to know the city.

C What was most annoying is that there was no cash machine nearby.

D The girls recently appeared in a television documentary where they exchanged homes.

E Luckily, Sophie had left her bike for Mina to borrow.

F She admitted it felt strange not knowing anyone.

G There was a lot less traffic in the evening, though.

H So, in comparison, she imagined village life would be really dull!

- Work in pairs. Discuss the questions.
 - What are the advantages/disadvantages of where you live?
 - Have you ever moved house? Tell your partner when and why you moved.

One really big advantage of where I live is that...

Vocabulary

- Match the photos with the words from the box.

ruins • tunnel • department store • clinic • gallery • palace • tower
- Read the definitions and write the places. Choose from the words in the box in exercise 1.
 - An underground road where vehicles travel.
 - A building where goods are made using machines.
 - A place where you can see paintings or sculptures.
 - A place where you can see a doctor.
 - Part of a castle or church.
 - A large shop where you can buy many different things.
 - The broken parts of an old building.
 - A very large building where a king, queen or president might live.
- Work in pairs. Talk about where you live. Are there any of the places in the photos? What other places are there in your town or village?
 - Well, I live in a large town and there are lots of shops, cafes and parks. However, in the evening it's quiet and there isn't much to do. It'd be great to have a cinema!
 - I live in the capital. I like travelling by tube to lots of different places. But there are so many factories and cars, so there's pollution and it can be noisy. There isn't an art gallery, which is a shame, as I love art. I think my city would be better if there were more museums and galleries.

Listening Part 3

 There's a great system for doing chores in our house! While my brother Sam is hanging out the clothes, laying and clearing the table, loading the dishwasher, taking the bins out, tidying my room and his, making his bed and mine, I babysit our little sister! So, whose turn is it to unload the dishwasher? It's not mine! It's Sam's.

 My mum doesn't believe in traditional boys or girls' chores, but my sister Rochelle and me. So Rochelle shifts out the bins, helps in the garden and walks the dog. I usually tidy up, make the beds, do the ironing and the washing-up! It keeps mum happy!

Wayne (15)

MODULE 4 BUSINESS in THEORY IMPORTING & EXPORTING

What is international trade?

International trade is the process of importing and exporting goods and services between countries. An export is sold from its country of origin to any other country while an import is a product or a service brought into a country from the global market. These imports and exports can be visible (for trade in goods such as food, raw materials and manufactured goods) or invisible (for trade in services such as banking, insurance and tourism).

Companies and countries can trade internationally for the following reasons:

- to purchase goods they cannot produce themselves or to get them at a cheaper price;
- to increase choice for consumers;
- to increase profits by selling to a new market.

As well as the risks associated with all trade, international trade can also face:

- economic risks, such as fluctuations in the exchange rate;
- political uncertainties, such as wars, changes in government policies, etc.;
- legal difficulties due to the differences in the legal systems;
- other problems caused by delays, cultural differences, language barriers or even natural disasters like earthquakes.

DOSSIER 3 Society and Identity

UK POPULATION AND IDENTITY

The population is getting older, as in many EU countries, mainly due to increased life expectancy, and, for the first time, there are more people aged over 60 than there are children under 16.

Influenced by factors such as increasing divorce, married couples without children, and babies born outside of marriage, the family unit has changed from the traditional nuclear family of a married couple with children. The average household size is 2.36 people. There has been an increase in multi-child couples and one parent households. Nearly a third of adults are single and lone parents account for 9.6% of households.

Immigration, particularly from ex-colonial such as Jamaica and India, but also more recent immigration from EU countries such as Poland, means that a large variety of ethnic groups make up the population. This ethnic diversity has created and influenced many aspects of British society although, unfortunately, immigration and acceptance still raise many issues.

UK population data - 2010

Total population	62.3 million
Number of births	807,776
Number of deaths	512,232

Religions of Great Britain, by census response

Religion	Percentage
Christianity	71.6%
No religion	23.7%
Other religions	4.7%

READING COMPREHENSION

2 Look at the information on these pages and decide if these sentences are true (T) or false (F). Then correct the false ones.

- In the UK, the number of senior citizens is higher than the number of children.
- The UK has a negative population growth.
- The family unit has remained unchanged.
- Nearly one in ten households has a lone parent.
- The UK no longer has any issues related to immigration.
- The UK does not have an official religion.
- More than one third of the people living in 'lone parent' are Protestants.
- Approximately 4,200 people sleep rough in England.

SPKING

3 Read these descriptions of what it means to be British. What do you think of them? Do they represent British people and why or why not?

WHAT DOES IT MEAN TO BE BRITISH?

As an Englishman it is usual to be a gentleman, to be generous and to stand in queues.

I think it's being able to reveal about everything and appreciating anything. The weather, the NHS, the schools, the police. And don't forget the monarchy. Many people think they're doing good, but I think we should be proud of our Royal Family.

Let's imagine who has lived here and then British nationalities. I feel British, (not Irish) and value British ways of the end justice. This does not mean, however, that I have to go to the pub every day or do other 'typically' British things. Britishness means tolerance, justice and fair play and respect of other cultural heritages. Unfortunately, some people have a real problem in accepting people like us, even if they are born and brought up in Britain.

HEALTH AND SAFETY

WARM UP

1 Answer these questions.

- What does the acronym HACCP stand for?
- What is the purpose of HACCP?
- What are the three types of risk analysed in HACCP?
- What are the three types of risk analysed in HACCP?
- What are the three types of risk analysed in HACCP?

HACCP

The hazard analysis and critical control point, or HACCP, is a recognised way of making sure food safety hazards in all food businesses are managed responsibly and continuously. It is a self-regulatory system introduced in the EU in 1993, and has been a legal requirement since 1 January 2006. Its main areas of focus are food processing, preparation, storage and serving, all of which must take place under strict health and safety conditions to ensure public well-being. The hazard analysis addresses three main types of risk in food production: biological hazard, when foods become dangerously infected by bacteria which might lead to food poisoning; physical hazard, through foreign bodies such as metal or plastic from factory machinery or natural hazards like bones in fish; and chemical hazard, when potentially dangerous chemicals like cleaning fluids or pesticides contaminate food.

Critical control points are predetermined checks that take place at specified points in the food production or preparation process. These include monitoring, storage, temperature, cooking time and ensuring food is handled correctly. The checks must be frequent and correctly documented. Checks can be done by hand or using CAM, computer-aided manufacturing, which is a computer software to control the correct functioning of machinery.

Society and Identity

MULTICULTURAL LONDON

Immigration is nothing new in London. It has always been a real magnet for people from around the world.

The city of Londinium was originally founded by the Romans, subsequently conquered by the Saxons and Normans and developed as a commercial centre by Italian, Spanish and Dutch traders. In fact for much of its history the capital was actually higher than it is today. In around 1700, evidence shows there were many foreigners living in London. These included Huguenots from France, Jews from Spain and Eastern Europe, Scandinavians, Germans, Moors and people from various Mediterranean countries. In addition, London was home to many Irish, Scottish, Irish and English people from both the southern and northern extremes of the country, considered very bit as foreign due to their strong dialects.

In Victorian London around 17% of its total population were not native Londoners, although they represented far fewer ethnic groups. Many came from Ireland, during the potato famine, others were Jewish refugees from central Europe, Poland and Russia, but there were also more exotic London residents such as sailors from South East Asia and Black African servants and sailors, as well as musicians, actors and writers.

By the end of the 19th century there were well established communities of Italian, French, Chinese, German, Scandinavian, Irish and thousands of Eastern European Jewish refugees who streamed in after WWI. Polish, Greek and Turkish Cypriots settled in London later and its Black community grew too from the 1950s onwards. The first wave of immigrants from the Caribbean were joined by immigrants from sub-Saharan Africa. The Notting Hill Carnival in Kensington remains a major annual celebration of West Indian life in London. British Commonwealth immigrants, mostly Indians, as well as Bangladeshi and Africans settled in north London.

More recently refugees and asylum seekers have flocked into the poorer areas of London from war-torn Vietnam, Kurdistan, Somalia, Eritrea, Iraq, Iran, Brazil and Colombia. Richer gulf-state Arabs and Japanese immigrants have moved into sophisticated Mayfair and Belgravia. Without all this immigration London would never have become so famous for its banking, silk, wools and wool of course in food!

George Orwell A secret place full of treasures.

was work hard, take care of their families, drink beer, watch football and gamble* and then die around sixty.

It was easy for the Party to control the proles, who weren't interested in politics, but only in the problems of their daily lives. The Party had simply to make sure the proles were patriotic* so that they'd work more and live on fewer rations. Most of them didn't have telecreens in their homes.

Even though a lot of crime in London happened among the proles, the Thought Police left them alone. Proles were allowed to have close relationships and could have a religion. 'Proles and animals are free,' said the Party slogan.

Winston took out the kids' history book that Mrs Parsons had lent* him and started copying a part of it into his diary.

London used to be a dark and dirty city in the past. Everyone was poor and hungry. The only nice houses were of the few fat, ugly capitalists like the man in the picture who has a long, black coat and a top hat. The capitalists owned everything and all the people were their slaves.*

Winston knew the rest of the story. How could you tell how much of it was lies? Did people really have a better life now than before the Revolution? However, he thought, things were so bad right now that it was impossible that life had been worse in the past!

The Party's world of wax, steel* and concrete*, heroes, slogans and work, work and more work wasn't a real life. Everyone was the same and did the same things. Every day the telecreens shouted that life was much better now.

The Party had destroyed the past and lies had become the truth. In 1973, Winston had once seen real proof of these lies. It had begun gamble: play games of chance for money patriotic: loyal to your country lent: give something to someone, knowing that they'll give it back to you top hat: a hat

Revolution: when people go against those who control them and start creating a new society steel: a hard metal which is often used in buildings and other structures concrete: a strong material made of sand, cement, water and other elements

The Activity books include digital resources!

• Visual Literacy and Vocabulary

Each unit opens with about twenty words, supported by clear and beautiful illustrations. The words are then contextualized in a dialogue and practised in the subsequent four pages through games and graded activities, such as crosswords, word searches, anagrams and word-picture matching.

• Revision

There is a dictation and lexical map to be completed at the end of each unit which allows students to verify vocabulary acquisition. The unit ends with activities where learners can express their personal answers. The solutions in the appendix allow you to use the three-volume series also for self-learning.

• Digital Resources

Engaging and interactive activities are available and the digital book is compatible with any device.

THE STORY MUSICAL

Riccardo Poto, Francesca Mazzi

ELEMENTARY - Common European Framework: A1-A2

Set up your own Musical!

The Story Musical is a series of stories and tales in English aimed at Primary Schools. The material has been created according to a format which provides the teacher with all the tools required to set up a musical. The teacher is guided through the organization of all the various activities involved in preparing a musical, in order to optimize the results.

The stories are inspired by the most famous classics, but have been completely rewritten to give a lighter note to the material, which is up-to-date, fun, and ready to be staged: Hansel and Gretel, The Ugly Duckling, The Jungle Book, Peter Pan, King Arthur, the Canterbury Tales, Romeo and Juliet.

FOR THE TEACHER SCRIPT AND SCREENPLAY

The fairy tales and stories are composed of eight frames; the script with the parts to be recited, also provides indications on how to make costumes and small props for the characters, the settings and the actions contained in the scenes. The duration of each performance varies from 30 to 45 minutes.

AUDIO TUTORIAL OF THE RECITAL

The audio guide of the recital, helps with the understanding of theatrical timing, intonation and characterisation of the voices of all the characters.

SONGS AND MUSIC

Each fairy tale or story contains five original songs, available in two versions: vocal and instrumental base without vocals.

SCENERY

There are five scenery backdrops for each musical with original, high-resolution digitised illustrations. They can be projected onto any surface to provide the correct theatrical setting. As well as the scenery, there are drawings of the main characters.

DANCE VIDEO TUTORIAL

One song has been selected for the main dance. The choreographer gradually explains all the steps, dividing the dance into short sections that can be selected directly from the chapters of the video, thus greatly facilitating the pupils when they study and learn the steps.

THEATRE VIDEO TUTORIAL

The video contains the complete staging of the musical. It provides instructions for the pupils on how to recite by demonstrating the movements and gestures of the characters and illustrates the organisation of the space on stage, which could be a classroom, a gym, a garden or a courtyard.

PROPS AND COSTUME VIDEO TUTORIAL

The costumes and props are made with recycled materials, cheap and easy to find. A workshop-guide stimulates the children's imagination and creativity.

TEACHER'S GUIDE

This consists of a text that provides the teacher with a set method to create the musical and describes all of the different phases, from casting to general rehearsal as well as acting and works as a support for the teacher providing practical and experienced advice.
